SCHOOL CHARACTERISTICS

St. Ignatius High School was founded by the Catholic Jesuits and is the only private boys' school in Taiwan. The common educational purpose of the Jesuit educational institutions is, "Men for others and men with others", which regards as the school educational vision and goal.

Our school regards "cultivating leaders" as the core value of education. The four core qualities of "consciousness", "intelligence", "love" and "heroic spirit" are used to construct students' images and plan the school-based curriculum.

- ◆ Consciousness: students are able to understand their strengths, weaknesses, values and worldview.
- ◆ Intelligence: students are able to confidently innovate and adapt in a constantly changing world.
- ◆ Love: students are able to communicate with others in a positive and caring attitude.
- ◆ Heroic Spirit: students can inspire himself and others with unrestrained ambition.

The goal of the curriculum is to evaluate, review, and revise whether or not the school core literacy of St. Ignatius High School is implemented in the field of education by dividing the above school vision core literacy, learning content, and learning performance into student-awareness, curriculum-awareness, and teacher-awareness.
